SFI 48.1 Requirements for Shift Boot Covers

Simpson has responded quickly to a NASCAR pre-season bulletin stating “Only fire resistant type shifter boots will be permitted. The shifter boots must meet the SFI 48.1 specification and display a valid SFI 48.1 label visible on the outside surface of the shifter boot. Quick release fasteners will not be permitted to secure the shifter boot. The shifter boot, when installed, must be completely sealed to the floor of the car. Installation of the shifter boot must be acceptable to NASCAR officials.”

Simpson Performance Products has improved the Shift Boot Cover to meet SFI 48.1, allowing drivers a higher level of protection against heat and unexpected fire - more time.

With a simple but effective design using triple layer Nomex[®] material lined with Kevlar[®], reverse stitching and Kevlar[®] thread, the difference is significant. These improvements have brought about improved fire protection, enabling Simpson to offer a safe product that is once again, leading edge.

“We want to act quickly on the new SFI standard. We think the newly designed Simpson Shift Boot Cover is the best out there. The Nomex[®] construction with Kevlar[®] lining reduces heat
